The authors would like to thank Della Summers, Director – Longman Dictionaries, for granting them permission to use the Longman Learners’ Corpus and the British National Corpus as sources of information for this new edition. At the same time, we are deeply indebted to all those who have designed, managed and contributed to these invaluable databanks.

Our sincere thanks are also extended to Judith Aguda for editing the entire manuscript with meticulous care and super-human patience, to Alison Steadman for co-ordinating the production stages, and to Lizzie Warren for overseeing the project from start to finish.

We have not forgotten those who made important contributions to the first edition and we would like to reacknowledge our debt to Sue Maingay, Kelly Davis, Diane Sutton and Mona Scheraga, and to the University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate.

Finally, we must thank the countless foreign students of English who have provided the content of both editions.
Preface

The Longman Dictionary of Common Errors provides learners and teachers of English with a practical guide to common errors and their correction. It contains the words and phrases which regularly cause difficulty for foreign learners, regardless of nationality and language background. Arranged alphabetically for ease of use, the entries deal with those errors that regularly appear in the written English of learners at the intermediate level of proficiency and above. Each error is accompanied by a correction and a short, simple explanation.

Since the appearance of the first edition of this dictionary almost a decade ago, dictionary making has been transformed by major developments in information technology. Today's dictionary makers are able to draw upon huge computerized databanks to discover exactly how language is used. This new edition of the Longman Dictionary of Common Errors owes its authority to two such databanks: the Longman Learners' Corpus and the British National Corpus.

The Longman Learners' Corpus contains samples of the written English produced by students from over 70 different countries. With this carefully coded corpus of ten million words, it is possible to identify more clearly than ever before the words and phrases which cause problems for particular groups of learners and for learners in general. As a result, this second edition contains a large number of new entries, while first edition entries which are insufficiently supported by the corpus have been removed.

The investigation of common errors sometimes raises questions about usage for which there are no readily available answers. For example, what do native speakers usually say -- 'I disagree that heart transplants should be stopped.' or 'I don't agree that heart transplants should be stopped'? According to modern usage, is it usual to say 'She failed her examination.' or 'She failed in her examination'? Is it incorrect to say 'More houses are built yearly.' and, if so, why is yearly unacceptable here? In helping us to answer questions such as these, the British National Corpus has been an indispensable source of information. This large corpus of modern British English usage has been particularly useful in revealing the subtle differences that make one word or phrase exactly right in a particular context, and others unsuitable.

Despite the recognized usefulness of computerized corpora in dictionary making, this application of information technology is still relatively new. Accordingly, while we believe that this new edition is a major advance on the original, we welcome all comments and suggestions.
Guide to the Dictionary

Finding the information you need

The entries in this dictionary are in alphabetical order: about is at the front of the book and youth is at the back. To help you find an entry quickly, there is a word in heavy type at the top of each page. The word at the top of a left-hand page is the name of the first entry; the word at the top of a right-hand page is the name of the last entry.

To use this dictionary to correct errors, you need to know which word to look up. In many cases, you will find the information you need at the entry for the keyword. This is the most important word in a group of words which regularly occur together. For example, to find out why ‘a hole on my sock’ is incorrect, you should look up the entry for hole (not on).

To find out what is wrong with ‘He’ll be here at December’, you should turn to the entry for at (not December). In cases like this, there is no fixed group of words and therefore no keyword.

Sometimes, the keyword is separated from the part of the sentence containing the error. For example, in: ‘She never lets the children to go out on their own’, your teacher may underline the word

IS inappropriate

Shows the error.

She's studying history in Oxford University.

The driver of the car was taken to hospital unconscious.

Not many of us succeed in achieving our ambitions.

Subconsciously (of a thought or desire) = existing or occurring in the mind without the person being aware of it: ‘His dream about crossing the ocean single-handed probably arose from a subconsciously desire for fame.’

Subject is not followed by about. Note the alternative: ‘My thesis is about women in the popular press.’

See Language Note at subconsciously.

A reporting verb in the past tense (e.g., "thought") is usually followed by would/should (NOT will/would). Compare: "I thought she would accept any job that came along." "I thought she would accept any job that came along."

\(x\)  If a developing country will become a developed country, it has to attract foreign investors. |

\(\checkmark\) If a developing country is to become a developed country, it has to attract foreign investors. |

When you are talking about what must happen in order to make something possible, use if ... and failure to do ... (NOT will): "If we are to get there by six o'clock, we'll have to get a taxi."

\(x\)  A developing country will become a developed country. It has to attract foreign investors. |

Talking about the future

When you talk about something happening in the future, you often use one of the following conjunctions:

TIME
- after, as soon as, before, immediately, once, the moment, until, when, whenever, while

CONDITION
- if, whether, as long as, in case, unless

To refer to the future after these conjunctions, use the present simple tense (NOT will/shall):

- I'll phone you as soon as I arrive at the airport.
- The plane should be taking off shortly, as long as there aren't any delays.

Note:
1. Sometimes it is possible to use the present perfect tense instead of the present simple. The present perfect expresses a sense of completion:

   - She doesn't want to buy a car until she's passed her driving test.
   - Once you've made a few friends, you won't feel so lonely.

2. When the clause beginning with if, whether, when, etc. is the object of the sentence, will may be used:

   - I doubt whether David will still recognize me.
   - I don't know when they'll be back.

Also, if ... will is possible when will expresses the idea of willingness:

- What are you going to do if she won't help you?
- If you'll take a seat for a moment, I'll tell Mr Fox you're here.
I hope you all have an enjoyable stay.
Always use an (NOT a) before a word beginning with a vowel sound: 'an egg' /æn ɪɡ/, 'an envelope' /æn ˈenvələup/.

My husband is doing an MSc in civil engineering.
Use an (NOT a) before an abbreviation that begins with a vowel sound: 'an MSc' /æn ˈem ɛs ', 'an MP' /æn ˈem ˈpiː/.

Sometimes it is difficult to live an honest life.
Use an (NOT a) before words beginning with h when the h is not pronounced: 'an honour' /æn ˈɔːnər/, 'an hour' /æn ˈaʊər/.

The child had been deaf since birth.

One of the girls I share with is British.

Since capital punishment was abolished, the crime rate has increased.

Since capital punishment was abolished, the crime rate has increased.

abandon = give up a plan, activity or attempt to do something, without being successful: 'Bad weather forced them to abandon the search.' 'Without government support, the project will have to be abandoned.'

abolish = remove a law, tradition or system, often by introducing a new law; do away with: 'In which year was slavery abolished in the United States?' 'I'd hate to see the monarchy abolished.'

It is difficult to reach remote places such as small country villages.

It is difficult to reach remote places such as small country villages.
remote = far away and difficult to reach: 'The tribe lives in a small remote mountain village.' 'We have now managed to bring famine relief to people in even the most remote areas.'

ability 1

x These machines are destroying our ability of thinking.
✓ These machines are destroying our ability to think.
ability to do sth (NOT of doing): 'Nobody doubts his ability to get the job done.' 'We need someone with the ability to work under pressure.'

x I want to improve my ability of reading.
✓ I want to improve my reading ability.
✓ reading/writing/teaching/acting ability: 'Her acting ability was recognized at a very early age.'

3

x There are so many places to visit in London that I'm not able to decide where to go.
✓ There are so many places to visit in London that I can't decide where to go.

x We weren't able to stop laughing.
✓ We couldn't stop laughing.

With verbs of perception (e.g. see, hear, smell) and verbs of the mind (e.g. understand, decide, remember), we usually use can, can't, etc: 'I can't hear you. Could you speak a bit louder, please?' 'I think I can smell something burning.' 'Having met her new boss, I can see why she doesn't like him.' Note also the phrase can't/couldn't stop doing something: 'The book was so fascinating I couldn't stop reading it.' See also COULD 1 x In some countries you are not able to drink until you are 21.

✓ In some countries you can't drink until you are 21.

For actions that are controlled by laws or rules, use can, can't, etc, or be (not) allowed to: 'Now that they are both sixteen, they can get married.' 'The goalkeeper can touch the ball, but nobody else can.'

x Technology has made them able to grow their own food.
✓ Technology has enabled them to grow their own food.
enable = make someone able to do something: 'This scheme is designed to enable young people to find work.'

Note also the phrase can't/couldn't stop doing something: 'The book was so fascinating I couldn't stop reading it.' See also COULD 1 about 1

I am always delighted when I receive a letter from you. About the party on December 26th, I shall be very pleased to attend.

People usually sleep with the doors and windows closed. About public transport, the bus and train services are excellent.

People usually sleep with the doors and windows closed. As for public transport, the bus and train services are excellent.

Above may be used to introduce a topic (or change of topic), but only in informal styles: 'About that book you asked for – I’ll get you a copy when I go to London.' In other styles, use with regard to, regarding, as for, as regards or as far as ... is concerned: 'With regard to the matter of unemployment, I would like to add a few remarks to those of the previous speaker.' 'I regret to inform you that Language and Culture is out of print. As regards your second question, I suggest that you write to the British Museum.'

It all depends on how different the new country is from your own. As for myself, I haven’t experienced any culture shock but then this is my second trip to the States.

To show that you are going to start talking about your own personal experience or situation, use in my own case or (especially in informal styles) as for myself: 'Many people have benefited from the operation. In my own case, I began to feel better immediately.' 'Most of my friends like school. As for me, I can’t wait to leave.'

I was about leaving when the telephone rang.

There were above a hundred people in the crowd.

Do not use above with numbers (unless referring to points on a scale): 'He is over eighty years of age.' 'I receive over twenty letters a day.' Compare 'Don't let the temperature get above thirty degrees.'

I like to stay at home on a Sunday, as I've said above.

What do you think of the above suggestion?

Above is used in formal writing to refer to something that has been mentioned earlier: 'From the above arguments it can be seen that supporters of the dam project fall into two camps.' In informal styles, this use of above is inappropriate.

Taking all the above into account, one could say that tourism does more harm than good.
Taking all the above arguments into account, one could say that tourism does more harm than good.

Instead of using the above as a loose reference to something mentioned earlier, make the reference more precise by using the above + noun (or the + noun + above): 'the above reasons', 'the statement above'.

He likes reading, above all novels.

He likes reading, especially novels.

Above all means 'most importantly': 'Get plenty of sleep, eat lots of good food, and above all try to relax.' 'There were many qualities that made him a great leader. Above all, he had charisma.'

This year English is above all my most important subject.

This year English is by far my most important subject.

With a superlative form ('the most important'), use by far: 'The riot was by far the most horrific scene I'd ever witnessed.'

Where would you like to go above all?

Where would you like to go most of all?

When you mean 'more than anywhere/anything/anyone else', use most of all or the most: 'What worries me most of all is that the car is not roadworthy.' 'The one I liked the most was too expensive.'

I would be grateful if you would send it to the address above-mentioned.

I would be grateful if you would send it to the above-mentioned address.

Above-mentioned comes before the noun: 'the above-mentioned person', 'the above-mentioned company'.

Note that above may be used before or after the noun: 'the above address', 'the address above'.

Since I was small, I've always wanted to go abroad.

Since I was small, I've always wanted to go abroad.

I would like to continue my studies abroad.

I would like to continue my studies abroad.

The only preposition that is used before abroad is from: 'She came back from abroad saying how much she had missed her home and family.'

It's a pity that you were absent from the training session.

It's a pity that you missed the training session.

It's a pity that you weren't at the training session.

be absent = not be present at something that you are officially supposed to attend: 'Her teacher wanted to know why she'd been absent.'

miss = not be present at something: 'She's missed a lot of classes this term because of illness.' 'I wouldn't miss Sandro's party for the world!' (= I really want to go to it).

be at = be present at something: 'John won't be at the meeting. He's had to fly to Rome on business.'

It is absolutely important that you see a doctor immediately.

It is very important that you see a doctor immediately.

It is absolutely essential that you see a doctor immediately.

See note at very 2
accept 1

✓ The company will not agree to buy new machines.

You accept someone's advice, opinion, or suggestion BUT you agree (= say you are willing) to do something. Compare: 'I accepted her suggestion and agreed to see the doctor that evening.'

2

✓ The driver did not allow me to get on the bus.

✓ We can't allow a motorway to be built through our town.

You allow/permit someone to do something, or let them do it: 'Many parents do not allow/permit their children to watch violent films.' 'Many parents do not let their children watch violent films.'

access

✓ Computers give us easier access to information.

Access is an uncountable noun: 'The entrance has been widened to provide easier access for disabled people.' 'They have no right to refuse us access to the files.'

accident

✓ Her car was involved in a serious accident.

a bad/dreadful/nasty/serious/fatal accident (NOT big) accommodation

✓ Could you help me look for accommodation?

In British English accommodation (= a place to stay or live in) is always uncountable: 'For the first year we stayed in rented accommodation.' In American English both accommodation and accommodations (plural) are used.

accomplish

✓ To achieve world unity, we need peace.

✓ A balanced diet is achieved by eating many different kinds of food.

When you accomplish something, you manage to do it or complete it, especially something that gives you satisfaction: 'She felt that she could accomplish more through journalism.' 'During his five years as President, he accomplished very little.'

When you achieve something, you manage to do or obtain what you have planned to do or obtain, especially after a lot of effort: 'The company intends to achieve all these goals within the next five years.' 'By the age of twenty, she had already achieved her ambition.'

Note that achieve is also used to mean 'accomplish': 'By the end of the course, you will feel that you've really achieved something.'

according to 1

✓ According to Dr Owen, the government should pay closer attention to public opinion.
To introduce your own opinion, use in my/our opinion: 'In my opinion, he didn't deserve a prison sentence.'

2 See opinion 1, point of view 1

account

x We also have to take into account that the schools are overcrowded.
✓ We also have to take into account the fact that the schools are overcrowded.

take into account + the fact + that-clause: 'They should take into account the fact that these archaeological treasures are extremely valuable.'

accurate

x I cannot give you the accurate date of my arrival yet.
✓ I cannot give you the exact date of my arrival yet.

Accurate is mainly used (1) to describe something said or written that contains no errors: 'Her novels are always historically accurate.' 'These figures can't be accurate, surely.' (2) to describe something that produces no errors: 'Are you sure the bathroom scales are accurate?' When you mean 'correct and as detailed as possible', use exact: 'The exact time is three minutes to seven.' 'Do you remember his exact words?' 'They'll be arriving next week - on Friday at three, to be exact.'

accustom 1

x I am beginning to accustom to the British way of life.
✓ I am beginning to get accustomed to the British way of life.

be/become/get/grow accustomed to sth: 'Within a few minutes, my eyes had grown accustomed to the dark.'
Note that, apart from in formal styles, most people prefer be/become/get used to: 'I am beginning to get used to the British way of life.'

2 Where I come from, we are not accustomed to see so many things in the shops.
✓ Where I come from, we are not accustomed to seeing so many things in the shops.

be accustomed to doing sth (NOT to do): 'He was accustomed to leading a life of luxury.'

ache

x After the run, I had an ache in my legs.
✓ After the run, my legs were aching.

Ache is usually used either as a verb or in compounds with tooth, ear, head, back, stomach: 'I did some weight training on Monday and my shoulders have been aching ever since.' 'That radio of yours is giving me a headache.'
Compare: 'After the run, I had pains in my legs.'

act 1

x I am interested in the way people act towards each other.
✓ I am interested in the way people behave towards each other.

x It is time that human beings learned how to act properly, without killing each other.
✓ It is time that human beings learned how to behave properly, without killing each other.

When you are talking about what someone does on a particular occasion, act and behave are interchangeable: 'Passengers who left the flight in Rhodes said that they had seen two men acting/behaving very suspiciously.

When you are talking generally about what someone does or what people do, use behave: 'You can’t expect all babies to behave the same.' 'From the way he behaves, anyone would think that he doesn’t get paid.'

- He refused to accept responsibility for his acts.
- He refused to accept responsibility for his actions.

The noun act is usually used when you want to comment on a particular thing that someone has done: 'It was an act of great courage.' 'These cowardly terrorist acts bring death and suffering to the innocent.'

When you are talking about someone’s general behaviour, use actions: 'You can’t be blamed for your parents’ actions.' 'Her words and actions have not gone unnoticed.' See also action 2.

- The actions that we do everyday are made easier by computers.
- The things that we do everyday are made easier by computers.
- If someone has done a wrong action, he should be punished.
- If someone has done something wrong, he should be punished.

Do and action cannot be used together. Use do + things/something/anything etc: 'She’s always doing things for charity.' 'Don’t do anything that might upset them.'

- It is difficult to forgive those responsible for actions of terrorism.
- It is difficult to forgive those responsible for acts of terrorism.
- Blackmail is the action of trying to obtain money from someone by threatening to expose them.
- Blackmail is the act of trying to obtain money from someone by threatening to expose them.

an/the act of (doing) sth (NOT action): 'Such acts of violence will not be tolerated.' 'For some people, the very act of talking to a doctor can help them to feel better.'

- Few people are aware that an urgent action is needed.
- Few people are aware that urgent action is needed.
- The government should take an action to reduce the birth rate.
- The government should take action to reduce the birth rate.

When you are talking about the idea or process of doing something, action is uncountable: 'There is too much talk and not enough action.' In the phrase take action, action is always uncountable: 'This illegal trade will continue unless action is taken to stop it.'

actual

- We’d like to know more about the actual crisis (Not the economic problems of the past).
- We’d like to know more about the present crisis (Not the economic problems of the past).
- My actual job involves a lot of administration.
- My present job involves a lot of administration.

actual = real (as opposed what is believed, planned or expected): 'People think he is over fifty but his actual age is forty-eight.' 'Although buses are supposed to run every fifteen minutes, the actual waiting time can be up to an hour.

Present/current = happening or existing now: 'No one can drive that car in its present condition.' 'Her current boyfriend works for Shell.'

actually 1

I never get bored by this city. Actually, each time I return I find something new to interest me.

✓ I never get bored by this city. In fact, each time I return I find something new to interest me.

When actually means 'in fact', it is usually used to correct a misunderstanding: 'People think we've got lots of money, but actually we're quite poor.' 'I'm sorry to have kept you waiting.' - 'Well actually I've only just arrived.'

When you simply want to develop a previous statement, use in fact or as a matter of fact: 'The winter of 1940 was extremely bad. In fact most people say it was the worst winter in living memory.' 'The company is doing very well. As a matter of fact, our sales have doubled.' See also actual

✓ We need to produce and export more than we do actually.

When you mean 'at the present time', use at present, at the moment or currently (NOT actually): 'At present the company is very short of staff.' 'At the moment I'm working part-time in a travel agency.'

✓ The other ingredients are then added to the mixture.

add sth to sth (NOT into): 'They are demanding that a new clause be added to the contract which will give them a share of the profits.' 'When a prefix is added to a word, you make a new word.'

admire 1

✓ One hour is not long enough to see all the exhibits.

✓ I enjoyed admiring all the old buildings.

✓ I enjoyed looking at all the old buildings.

Do not use admire when you just mean 'see' or 'look at'. Admire means 'look at someone or something with a strong feeling of pleasure'. This meaning of admire is found mainly in novels and tourist brochures: 'Come and admire the magnificence of the Niagara Falls.' 'Rupert was sitting outside on the verandah, admiring the many jewels in the night sky.'

✓ Although it was a sad film, I enjoyed it very much.

✓ Everybody admired your talk because it was lively and interesting.

✓ Everybody enjoyed your talk because it was lively and interesting.

Do not use admire when you mean 'enjoy'. Admire means 'have a very high opinion of someone': 'I've always admired people who think for themselves.' 'Lewis was probably best known and admired for his work on medieval literature.'

adore

✗ I adore meeting new people.

✓ I like/enjoy/love meeting new people.
I adore reading too.

I like/enjoy/love reading too.

Adore usually expresses a very strong feeling: ‘She adores her grandchildren and is always buying them presents.’ ‘The one singer I absolutely adore is Whitney Houston.’ If you use adore to mean ‘like/enjoy/love’, you may sound insincere.

Although the film has its advantages, it also has a serious flaw.

Advantage = something that puts you in a better position than other people: ‘A healthier lifestyle is just one of the advantages of living in the country.’ ‘The main advantage of using word processors is the amount of time you save.’

Merit = a good quality; a strength: ‘The merits of the new health programme are gradually being recognized.’ ‘We should judge each application on its own merits.’

Television provides many advantages.

Television provides many benefits.

Benefit = a good result which improves your life or situation: ‘Belonging to a union has a number of important benefits.’ ‘It’s over a month since I got back from holiday, but I still feel the benefit.’

What are the advantages in studying in the United States?

   advise doing sth (NOT to do): 'I would advise leaving very early. Then you'll miss all the traffic.'

affect

1. The programme is about computers and their affect on our lives.
   ✔ The programme is about computers and their effect on our lives.

   To affect something (verb) is to have an effect on it (noun): 'Smoking affects your health.' (= smoking has an effect on your health)

2. This problem has also affected on the automobile industry.
   ✔ This problem has also affected the automobile industry.

afford

1. My father couldn’t afford paying for my education.
   ✔ My father couldn’t afford to pay for my education.
   afford (to do) sth: 'Not many couples can afford to run two cars nowadays.'

afraid

1. The road to the airport was very busy and we were afraid to miss the plane.
   ✔ The road to the airport was very busy and we were afraid of missing the plane.

   be afraid to do sth = be unwilling to do something because you are frightened about what may happen: 'She was afraid to eat it in case it was poisonous.' 'Don't be afraid to ask for help.'
   be afraid of doing sth = be worried or anxious about something which might happen: 'Most criminals are afraid of being caught.' 'He says that he is afraid of losing his job.'

after

1. After a week we're going to Italy.
   ✔ in a week's time we’re going to Italy.
   ✔ I hope that I’ll still be healthy after ten years.
   ✔ I hope that I’ll still be healthy in ten years' time.

When you mention a time in the future that is measured from 'now' (the moment of speaking), use in a month's time, in three weeks' time, etc (or just in a month, in three weeks): 'She'll be back again in a couple of weeks' time.'
Note the alternatives: ‘A week (from) today we’re going to Italy.’ ‘I hope that I’ll still be healthy ten years from now.’

× I promised to meet Hitomi at the exhibition a week after.
✓ I promised to meet Hitomi at the exhibition a week later.
× I returned to Germany after two years’ time.
✓ I returned to Germany two years later.

× After 1961 the consumption of cheese has increased each year.
✓ Since 1961 the consumption of cheese has increased each year.

To refer to a period of time that begins in the past and continues up to ‘now’ (the moment of speaking), use since (NOT after): ‘I’ve been standing here waiting for you since half past three.’ ‘She hasn’t been to see us since she got married.’

× My first aim is to get a master’s degree. After I would like to go and work in Canada.
✓ My first aim is to get a master’s degree. Afterwards, I would like to go and work in Canada.

? A police car arrived within minutes and soon after an ambulance came.
✓ A police car arrived within minutes and soon afterwards an ambulance came.

After is used instead of afterwards only in informal styles, usually in phrases such as ‘soon after’, ‘not long after’ or ‘just after’. Careful users generally prefer afterwards, especially at the beginning of a sentence: ‘Shortly afterwards it was announced that the bank had collapsed.’ In American English after is often used instead of afterwards.

✓ We could all meet at my house for lunch and afterwards we could go to the beach.

The meaning ‘then’ can be expressed in a number of ways, e.g. afterwards, then, later on, subsequently, after + v-ing. Avoid the repeated use of after that and after doing this/that.
After all

First we got stuck in a traffic jam and then our car broke down. After all we decided to cancel the trip and went back home.

Afternoon

In the afternoon we have classes until five o’clock.

Afterwards

We started going out together just to have fun, as friends. Afterwards we both realized that there was more than just friendship.

Using ‘middle position’ adverbs

The words below are common examples of ‘middle position’ adverbs.

| FREQUENCY  | always, usually, normally, often, frequently, sometimes, occasionally, rarely, seldom, hardly ever, never |
| TIME       | already, just, soon, still, once |
| DEGREE     | almost, nearly, hardly, really |
| FOCUS      | even, just, merely, only, really |
| OTHER      | also, probably, definitely, suddenly |

- Middle position adverbs usually go immediately in front of the main verb:

  I usually have a cold shower in the morning.
  It was so dark that I could hardly see.
  You will always be welcome.

- When there is more than one auxiliary verb, these adverbs usually go immediately after the first one:

  I have often been asked why I chose this career.
  We will soon be taking our examinations.

- When the main verb is am/is/are/was/were, these adverbs go immediately after it (NOT in front of it):

  He was soon fit and well again.
  Fortunately, the shops were still open.

Note:
1 These rules also apply to all, both and each when these words are used for emphasis:

  These countries each have their own traditions.
  The rooms on the top floor are all being redecorated.
  We are both fond of music.

2 Adverbs such as sometimes, usually and soon may also go at the beginning or end of a clause. In these positions they receive more emphasis:

  Don’t worry. I’m sure they’ll be arriving soon.
  Sometimes the noise keeps us awake at night.
  Usually they come home for lunch.

Choosing the right word: WORD COMBINATIONS

As well as knowing what a word means, you need to know how to use it and this includes knowing which words it usually goes with. For example, possibility is often used with strong but not with big. The phrases ‘a big possibility’ and ‘a strong possibility’ have the same meaning and both will be understood. However, ‘a big possibility’ is unnatural and is generally regarded as an error. The rule that is broken by putting big and possibility together is one of word combination or ‘collocation’.

Big and strong belong to a group of adjectives that are commonly used with abstract nouns (e.g. change, risk, possibility, effect, difficulty). It is important to know which adjectives go with which nouns. The table below shows which combinations are acceptable.

✓ I've never been able to cook. My sister on the other hand can bake wonderful biscuits and cakes.
Using progressive tenses

• Progressive tenses are used to talk about things that are happening at a particular point in time:

Progressive tenses are NOT used to talk about states (i.e. the way things are or the way things feel):

Bill was painting the kitchen when I arrived.
What are you eating?

My brother belongs to a boxing club. (NOT 'is belonging')
Each envelope contained twenty dollars. (NOT 'was containing')
The cat sensed danger so it turned and ran away (NOT 'was sensing')

• Verbs with 'state' meanings which are NOT used in progressive tenses include:

LIKES and DISLIKES admire, adore, like/dislike, love, prefer, hate NEEDS and WANTS need, lack, want
SENSES feel, hear, wish, see, notice, smell, taste, sound, sense
KNOWLEDGE forget, know, realize, remember, understand OPINIONS believe, doubt, feel, imagine, suppose, suspect, think COMPOSITION comprise, consist of, contain, include APPEARANCE appear, be, seem, look, resemble POSSESSION have, belong to, own, possess, owe RELATIONSHIPS come from, concern, involve, depend, fit, suit
EXISTENCE be, exist

• Remember that many verbs have both 'action' and 'state' meanings.

Compare:

George is having a bath.
George has two sisters and one brother. (NOT 'is having')

I'm thinking about where to go for my next holiday.
I think history lessons are boring. (NOT 'am thinking')

• Remember that the progressive form of a verb (be + -ing) is not the same as the -ing form.

Compare:

✗ I was not having a watch and so I didn’t know the time.
✓ I didn’t have a watch and so I didn’t know the time.
✓ Not having a watch, I didn’t know the time.

When a verb is used to describe a state, the simple form and the -ing form may be used, but not the progressive form.
Use on the contrary to show that you strongly disagree with a previous statement and believe that the opposite is true: 'Your parents didn't want you to go abroad, did they?' 'On the contrary, they were all for it.'

- These advertisements are misleading. As a matter of fact, you have to pay for everything in the end.
IN FACT • AS A MATTER OF FACT • THE FACT IS (THAT) • ACTUALLY

• To develop a previous statement, you usually use in fact or as a matter of fact:

  The winter of 1940 was very bad. In fact, most people say it was the worst winter they had ever experienced.
  Martin doesn’t like his new job. As a matter of fact, he’s thinking of leaving.

• Do not use in fact or as a matter of fact in general or introductory statements:

  In the last two decades advances in technology have changed the face of industry. (NOT ‘have in fact changed’)

• To correct what someone thinks or supposes, use in fact, as a matter of fact or actually:

  ‘He’s a friend of yours, isn’t he?’ ‘No, he isn’t. As a matter of fact, I’ve just met him.’
  ‘I’m sorry to have kept you waiting.’ ‘Well actually I’ve only just arrived.’

• Use the fact is (that) to introduce your main point, especially when this explains the real truth about a particular situation:

  ‘I’m not surprised that he’s looking worried. The fact is (that) he’s been spending more than he earns.’
  ‘We don’t really want to go but the fact is (that) we don’t have any choice.’

Avoiding sexism in your writing

In the past, when people referred to a member of a group containing both men and women (or boys and girls), they used the pronouns he/him/his:

A good doctor listens carefully to his patients.
Anyone who wants to join should give his name to the secretary.

Nowadays, many people feel that this usage is unfair to women. If you want to avoid the danger of seeming sexist, you can use one of the following alternatives.

• Use They/Them/Their to refer back to an indefinite pronoun (anyone, somebody etc):

Anyone who wants to join should give their name to the secretary.

Some people object to this usage in formal styles, insisting that they (plural) does not agree in number with anyone (singular). This usage is nevertheless very common.

• Make all the forms plural:

Good doctors listen carefully to their patients.
Those who want to join should give their name to the secretary.

• Design the sentence in such a way that a personal pronoun is not needed. For example, instead of saying 'If anyone wants to go now, he may do so'; just say 'Anyone who wants to go now may do so.'

• Use he or she, his or her, etc:

A good doctor listens carefully to his or her patients.

This alternative is found in formal writing, and so is the use of he/she, his/her, s/he, etc. However, they are generally felt to produce awkward and unnatural sentences, especially when they are repeated, as in:

If a doctor listens to his or her patients, he or she will be in a better position to help them.

Health is an uncountable noun: 'Worry can affect your health.' 'Nothing in life is more important than good health.'

Choosing the right word:
GENERAL WORDS and EXACT WORDS

Some words have a general meaning, e.g. big, beautiful, good, say, make, kill. These words are useful, especially when you begin to learn English, because you can make use of them in a wide range of situations:

| a big meal, a big kitchen, a big mistake, etc |

For each general word, however, there is usually another word or phrase which comes closer to what you want to say, and which may also sound more natural in the context:

| a substantial meal, a spacious kitchen, a serious mistake, etc |

A major step towards fluency in English is getting to know plenty of exact words which can replace the more general words you have learned. Here are some words which can be used instead of the general word kill.

| murder | To murder someone is to kill them deliberately and unlawfully: 'The key witness was murdered before he could testify.' A person who does this is a murderer. |
| massacre | Massacre is used when you talk about the deliberate killing of a large number of people, especially people who cannot defend themselves: 'Whole native populations were massacred when the European settlers arrived.' |
| slaughter | Slaughter is used when you talk about the deliberate killing of a large number of people, especially in a particularly cruel way: 'Men ran through the village burning houses and slaughtering anyone that got in their way.' |
| execute | To execute someone (or put someone to death) is to kill someone as a punishment, according to the law: 'King Charles I was executed on 30th January 1639.' |
| assassinate | To assassinate someone is to deliberately kill a very famous or important person such as a political leader: 'President Lincoln was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth.' A person who does this is an assassin. |
| commit suicide | To commit suicide (or take your own life) is to deliberately kill yourself: 'Rather than be taken prisoner, they preferred to commit suicide.' |
| destroy | To destroy an animal (or have it put down/to sleep) is to kill it in a way that does not cause pain, especially because it is sick or injured: 'The cat had developed cancer and had to be destroyed.' |

✗ If you can't find her, she must hide somewhere.
✓ If you can't find her, she must be hiding somewhere.

When you do not actually know where someone is or what they are doing, but certain facts allow you to guess, use must be or must be doing: 'If she isn't in her office, she must be in the canteen.' 'If she's in the canteen, she must be having her lunch.'
Using reflexive pronouns

The words listed below are called ‘reflexive pronouns’.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SINGULAR</th>
<th>PLURAL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>myself</td>
<td>ourselves (NOT ourself/s)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>yourself</td>
<td>yourselves (NOT yourself/s)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>himself, herself</td>
<td>themselves (NOT theirselves or themself/s)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>itself, oneself</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

These pronouns are always written as just ONE word, e.g. myself, ourselves (NOT my self, our selves):

He managed to escape by disguising himself as a prison officer.

All the singular forms end with -self; all the plural forms end with -selves:

You mustn’t blame yourself, Helen. It wasn’t your fault.

I hope that you are both looking after yourselves.

If the subject and the pronoun refer to the same person or thing, use myself, himself, etc (NOT me, him):

We found ourselves in a difficult situation. (NOT ‘we found us’)

She describes herself as a journalist. (NOT ‘she describes her’)

I stood there looking at myself in the mirror. (NOT ‘looking at me’)

Note however that prepositions of place are usually followed by me, him, etc (NOT myself, himself):

‘I could hear footsteps behind me.’ ‘Do you have any money on you?’ ‘He’d forgotten to bring his keys with him.’

The verbs enjoy, amuse, hurt, injure and familiarize are often used with a reflexive pronoun:

The children always enjoy themselves at the seaside.

He’d fallen down the stairs and injured himself.

Feel and relax are not usually used with reflexive pronouns:

He soon began to feel better. (NOT ‘feel himself better.’)

After a hard day’s work, I like to relax. (NOT ‘relax myself.’)

Note however the pattern feel yourself doing sth: ‘I felt myself getting redder and redder.’

Specialize and concentrate are never used with reflexive pronouns.

I want to specialize in tropical medicine. (NOT ‘specialize myself’)

He can’t concentrate with the radio on. (NOT ‘concentrate himself’)

Do not use wash yourself, dress yourself, etc when you mention the simple things that people do as part of their daily routine:

I always wash/have a wash before breakfast.

I wish you would hurry up and get dressed.

If you use wash yourself, dress yourself, etc you draw attention to the special skill or ability that the action requires: ‘Not many two-year-olds are able to wash and dress themselves.
name 1
× This beautiful village is named 'Cadaques'.
✓ This beautiful village is called 'Cadaques'.
× I stayed in and watched a film named 'The Clockwork Orange'.
✓ I stayed in and watched a film called 'The Clockwork Orange'.
× What we used to name 'the Cold War' is now over.
✓ What we used to call 'the Cold War' is now over.

When you mention the name by which someone or something is known, use call/be called (NOT name/be named): ‘Most people call him Bob but he prefers to be called Robert.’
Compare: ‘They’ve named/called the baby Louise.’ (= the name they have chosen for the baby is Louise)

× They named their children from their grandparents.
✓ They named their children after their grandparents.
name a child after sb: ‘We’ve decided to name her Sarah, after her grandmother.’
In American English name a child for sb is also possible, although not very common.

narrow
× When immersed in water, the cloth narrows.
✓ When immersed in water, the cloth shrinks.

narrow (of roads, rivers etc) = become less wide: ‘Just beyond the bend, the river begins to narrow.’
shrink (especially of cloth) = become smaller as a result of being wet or placed in water: ‘I suggest you buy the larger size just in case it shrinks.’

nation
× It’s hard to tell which nation he comes from.
✓ It’s hard to tell which country he comes from.

A person comes from, lives in, or feels part of a particular country (NOT nation): ‘Some people in this country think that the leadership is too weak.’ ‘People living in former Soviet bloc countries are undergoing a difficult period of transition.’
Nation is less common than country and is mainly used when a country is considered as a political or economic structure: ‘Japan has become the richest nation in the world.’ ‘Representatives from the world’s leading industrial nations will meet next month in Geneva.’
Note the alternative: ‘It’s hard to tell his nationality.’

nationality
× My name is Iman Jalil and my nationality is Iraqi.
✓ My name is Iman Jalil and I come from Iraq.

The usual way of referring to someone’s nationality is to use come from: ‘Most of the students in my class come from Oman or Bahrain.’
Nationality is used mainly in formal styles: ‘Visitors of Swedish nationality do not require a visa. 'Despite being born in Germany, these children do not have an automatic right to German nationality.'

native

- The airport extension is strongly opposed by the natives.
  - The airport extension is strongly opposed by the local residents.

Nowadays the noun native is usually used in formal styles to refer to the place where someone was born: 'His real name was Harvey Pepper, a native of Montreal.' or to the country/region where a particular animal or plant has always grown: 'This useful herb is a native of southern Europe, but has adjusted well to colder climates.'
To refer to the people who live in and around a village, town or city, and have shared interests and activities, use local residents, local population or (in informal styles) locals: 'Local residents are against the motorway proposal.'

nature

- I have always found the nature fascinating.
  - I have always found nature fascinating.

Nature (= the natural world of birds, trees, rivers etc) is never used with the: 'We must stop destroying nature before it is too late.'

near 1

- He decided to visit a friend who lived very near from where he was at that moment.
  - He decided to visit a friend who lived very near (to) where he was at that moment.

near or near to (NOT near from): 'The post office is near (to) the bank.' 'If we moved to Dallas, we would be nearer to my parents.'

- I went near to the girl and told her my name.
  - I went up to the girl and told her my name.

See note at TO 2

3

- I sometimes meet friends in a near restaurant.
  - I sometimes meet friends in a nearby restaurant.
- I ran to the telephone box which was near to call an ambulance.
  - I ran to the telephone box nearby to call an ambulance.

To say that something is only a short distance from a place, use nearby: 'I stopped at one of the nearby cottages and asked the way.' 'It's very convenient having a supermarket nearby.'

nearby

- Their house is nearby the new airport.
  - Their house is near the new airport.

Nearby is used as an adjective or adverb: 'We flew from a nearby airport.' 'There is an airport nearby.'
When you need a preposition, use near: 'The hotel is near the sea.'

nearly

- In the countryside there is nearly no pollution.
  - In the countryside there is hardly any pollution.

Instead of saying nearly no/nobody/never etc, use hardly any/anybody/ever etc: 'Hardly any of my friends are married.' 'Hardly anybody objected to the idea.'

necessity

- It was then that I felt the necessity to improve my English.
  - It was then that I felt the need to improve my English.
If something is a necessity, you must have it or do it, or it must happen: ‘If you saw the terrible conditions in which these people are living, you would appreciate the necessity to step up foreign aid.’ ‘For anyone who runs a large business, a computer is an absolute necessity.’

Need has a similar meaning to necessity but it is also used in connection with something that you want to do/have/happen (although it is not essential): ‘I began to feel the need for a change of lifestyle.’ ‘Don't you ever feel the need to do something more creative?’

need 1

- x It is no need to tell the police about the accident.

- ✓ For a long time I have felt the need to improve my French.

  a need to do sth (NOT of/for doing): ‘I don't understand their need to sell the house.’

5

- x Tina needs leave her house at seven o'clock every morning.
- ✓ Tina needs to leave her house at seven o'clock every morning.

  In affirmative sentences, use need to do sth (WITH to): ‘I need to get to the airport by seven at the latest.’

  Compare (1) the negative forms: ‘She doesn't need to stay if she doesn't want to.’ ‘She needn’t stay if she doesn’t want.’

  (2) the question forms: ‘Does she need to stay any longer?’ ‘Need she stay any longer?’

need not/needn’t

- x During the day I need not work.
- ✓ During the day I don’t need/have to work.

  They need not get a job if their parents are rich.

  They don’t need/have to get a job if their parents are rich.

  Use needn’t/need not (or don’t need/have to to refer to the situation ‘now’ (at the moment of speaking): ‘You needn’t rush. I'm not in a hurry.’

  To refer to general situations, you usually use don’t need to or don’t have to: ‘You don’t need/have to drive everywhere if there is a good bus service.’

- x They need not to feel ashamed of themselves.
- ✓ They needn’t feel ashamed of themselves.

No matter they are rich or poor, they all come to us for advice.

\textbf{No matter whether they are rich or poor, they all come to us for advice.}

'No matter how much you help him, he never seems grateful.' 'No matter how late you set off, the roads are always busy.' 'No matter who you ask, they all say the same thing.'

Note that \textit{no matter whether} tends to sound awkward and there are usually simpler alternatives: 'After the sauna they run and jump in the river, whether it's freezing or not.' 'Rich or poor, they all come to us for advice.'

No matter the recession, sales remained high.

\textbf{In spite of the recession, sales remained high.}

\textbf{No matter} is always followed by a \textit{wh-} clause: 'No matter what they did, they couldn't put the fire out.' 'No matter how cold it gets, we'll keep warm somehow.'

In front of a noun phrase, use \textit{in spite of/ despite}: 'In spite of the temperature outside, we managed to keep warm.'

My wife had left the hotel and I no more needed a double room.

\textbf{My wife had left the hotel and I no longer needed a double room.}

When talking about time, use \textit{no longer} (NOT \textit{no more}). 'The offices are no longer occupied.'

Note the alternative: 'My wife had left the hotel and I didn't need a double room any more.'

No one of us regrets volunteering.

\textbf{None of us regrets volunteering.}

\textbf{Not one of us regrets volunteering.}

When you mean 'not one', use \textit{none} or (for emphasis) \textit{not one}: 'None of the children could tell the time.' 'Not one of the trainees has a medical background.'
No one and nobody cannot be followed by of unless the phrase introduced by of is descriptive: 'No one of any importance was at the meeting.'

Using negative words

- Do not use two negative words in a clause. No, nobody, nothing etc cannot be used with not, never, hardly, seldom, etc.

  Nobody could see me. (NOT ‘couldn’t see’)
  Nobody ever asks me for my opinion. (NOT ‘never asks’)
  I checked the essay for mistakes but couldn’t find any. (NOT ‘find none’)

- After negative words, you usually use any, anyone, anything, etc (NOT some, someone, something, etc).

  I hadn’t seen anyone for over a week.
  Nobody is doing anything to help them.

Follow the same rule if the context has a negative meaning.

  He managed to get on the train without anyone seeing him.
  By six o’clock I am too tired to do anything else.

- As a general rule, use nobody/nothing etc with an affirmative verb instead of everybody/everything etc with a negative verb.

  Nobody is allowed to wear shoes in the mosque. (NOT ‘Everyone isn’t’) None of the children are at school today.

  Compare: ‘All the children aren’t at school today.’ This means that some of the children are at school today, but not all of them.

- When a sentence begins with never, hardly, seldom, rarely, scarcely, nowhere, no sooner, not only, only when, by no means, under no circumstances etc, the subject and auxiliary verb change places.

  No sooner had we arrived than it began to rain.
  Under no circumstances should you wait any longer.

- When there is no auxiliary verb, use do:

  Only then did I realize that I was completely alone.
  Rarely do you meet such polite children nowadays.

up-to-date (also up to date) = (1) (of machinery, equipment, methods, books etc) modern, especially because based on the most recent knowledge, information, inventions etc: 'Our computer system is reasonably up-to-date but it's not flexible enough.' 'This map is no good. I need one that's up-to-date.'

(2) (of people) having the most recent information about something: 'The aim of the survey is to find out how many doctors keep up to date with developments in medical research.'

latest = See note at LAST 4
I was travelling on a flight from the USA to Paris.

The meals we use to eat are very simple.

When I'm not busy, I use to play the guitar.

When you are talking about a present habit, use the present simple tense (NOT use to do): 'I (usually) have two cups of coffee at breakfast.'

In my previous job I used to travel a lot.

When you are talking about a past habit, use used to do sth (with silent d): 'Before I had the accident I used to cycle to work.'

It took me a long time to get used to the local accent.

be/get used to (doing) sth (with silent d) = be in or get into the habit of doing/hearing/seeing etc something, so that it no longer seems strange or difficult: 'Being a city girl, she wasn't used to sitting on a horse.' 'I didn't like the taste of the water at first, but I'm getting used to it.'

On a beautiful day like today it's no use staying at home.

It's no use having lessons if you don't want to learn.

Use it's no use/good doing sth when you mean that a particular action will not help to deal with a need or difficulty: 'For spellings, it's no use looking in a grammar book. What you need is a dictionary.'

When you mean that something has no useful purpose, use there's no point in doing sth: 'There's no point in having a dictionary if you never use it.'

There's no use in waiting any longer.

There's no point in waiting any longer.

It's no use ... (NOT there): 'It's no use complaining.'

there's no point ... (NOT it) 'There's no point in getting upset.'

In garage sales people get rid of their useless things.

If something is useless it is not useful: 'These scissors are useless - they don't even cut paper.' 'The report contains a lot of useless information.'

I don't like history because I think it's useless for me.
Why do we have to learn useless words?

Why do we have to learn words that are of no use?

If something does not help you to do what you want to do, it is of no use.

"I use my computer for writing and so a typewriter is of no use to me." "This map's no use - it doesn't show the minor roads."

Staying in a big hotel would involve useless expense.

Without all this useless packaging, food would be cheaper.

If something is not necessary, it is unnecessary.

"People who refuse to stop smoking are taking an unnecessary risk." "Sports that cause animals unnecessary suffering should be banned."

In Finland it's usual that women go out to work.

In Finland it's usual for women to go out to work.

"It's usual/unusual for sb to do sth": "Is it usual for him to be so late?" "It's very unusual to see these flowers at this time of the year."

I thought it was just a usual parcel but then it began to move across the table.

I thought it was just an ordinary parcel but then it began to move across the table.

"usual = that is usually used, seen, done etc": "She was sitting in her usual chair by the fire." "We arranged to meet at the usual time." "He was speaking in his usual calm tone."

"ordinary = without any special features or qualities": "It was just an ordinary house in an ordinary street." "From the moment I met her, I knew she was no ordinary kind of girl."

As usually, he arrived five minutes late.

The food wasn't the same as usual.

As usual, he arrived five minutes late.

The food wasn't the same as usual.

"as usual (NOT as usually): "John's late as usual." "As usual, everyone was out in the garden when I arrived."

"the same as usual (NOT ... as usually): "Apart from his hair, he looked the same as usual."

I utterly hope you won't be angry with me.

I sincerely hope you won't be angry with me.

I have to make sure that our customers are utterly satisfied.

Utterly is usually used with words that have a negative meaning or express strong disapproval such as (adjectives) ridiculous, absurd, irrelevant, useless, wrong, impossible, (adjectival participles) confused, amazed, dejected, ruined, (verbs) reject, detest, destroy:

"This new tin opener is utterly useless." "The whole idea is utterly absurd." "I'm utterly amazed." "The entire building was utterly destroyed."
vain

? The police did their best to rescue the hostages but in vain.
✓ The police did their best to rescue the hostages but without success.

She tried to get him to listen but in vain.
✓ She tried in vain to get him to listen.
✓ She tried to get him to listen but it was all in vain.
✓ She tried to get him to listen but to no avail.

In vain usually comes after verbs such as try, search, hunt, look, wait, fight etc or after the verb be: 'Her voice was beginning to rise and she tried in vain to control it.' 'A team of surgeons battled in vain to save him.' 'I was never in any doubt that my efforts would be in vain.' In other situations, use without success or to no avail: 'They did everything they could to protect her, but (all) to no avail.'

✗ The magazine is printed on very valuable paper.
✓ The magazine is printed on very expensive paper.

They always buy valuable brands such as Polo, Louis Vuitton, and Yves St Laurent.
✓ They always buy expensive brands such as Polo, Louis Vuitton, and Yves St Laurent.

valuable = worth a lot of money: 'Your stamp collection must be quite valuable by now.' 'If the painting is genuine, it could be extremely valuable.'

expensive = costing a lot of money, especially when compared with other things of the same type: 'He only buys silk ties, even though they’re more expensive.' 'Why are these bananas so expensive?'

✗ They will steal all your money and valuable things.
✓ They will steal all your money and valuables.

When you mean valuable things such as jewellery, cameras, etc, use valuables (always plural): 'The management advises guests to deposit their valuables in the hotel safe.'

3

✗ The small hotels are usually very valuable for money but the big ones are expensive.
✓ The small hotels are usually good value but the big ones are expensive.

If something is worth what you pay for it, it is good value (for money) or (good) value for money: 'At just under $90 the Sony is very good value.' 'Having paid £200 for the suit, I expect to get better value for money.'

value 1

✗ The large size is very value.
✓ The large size is very good value.

See note at valuable 3.
2  x  In any case, the car gives you an exceptional value for money.
✓  In any case, the car gives you exceptional value for money.

be good/excellent/exceptional value (for money) (WITHOUT an):
'£600 might seem expensive for a two-week holiday, but when you look at all the extras it's quite good value.'

vegetable  x  I buy a lot of fresh fruit and vegetable.
✓  I buy a lot of fresh fruit and vegetables.

Unlike fruit, vegetable is a countable noun: 'Alan has never been keen on vegetables.'

very 1  x  He looked very funny that I couldn't help laughing.
✓  He looked so funny that I couldn't help laughing.

so + adjective/adverb + that clause: 'The music was so loud that I started to get a headache.'

2  x  Meno Park in Central Tokyo is very huge.
✓  Meno Park in Central Tokyo is (absolutely) huge.
✓  The traffic jams are very terrible.
✓  The traffic jams are (absolutely) terrible.
✓  I'm very convinced that he is telling the truth.
✓  I'm (absolutely) convinced that he is telling the truth.

Do not use very or extremely with adjectives which already have a strong meaning, e.g. boiling (= very hot), convinced (= very sure), exhausted (= very tired), huge (= very big), terrible (= very bad). If you want to increase the strength of these words, use absolutely or (depending on the particular adjective) completely, totally, utterly or quite: 'By the time I got home I was completely exhausted.'

With adjectives which do not have a strong meaning, use very or extremely (NOT absolutely, completely etc): 'By the time I got back home I was very tired.'

3  x  Their services are very appreciated by the hospital management.
✓  Their services are greatly appreciated by the hospital management.

Very may be used with past participles that are like adjectives and refer to a state: 'very bored/worried/interested/pleased'.

Past participles with a strongly passive meaning are usually modified by greatly or (very) much: 'His work is much admired.' 'This courageous woman, who helped so many of us, will be greatly missed.'

4  x  Although he was very in love with Marianne, he wanted to marry a rich heiress.
✓  Although he was very much in love with Marianne, he wanted to marry a rich heiress.

Very is not used before a phrase beginning with a preposition (e.g. 'in love with', 'in need of', 'at odds with'). However, in such cases it is often possible to use very much: 'These proposals are very much in keeping with the President's own ideas.'

Note the alternative: 'Although he was deeply in love ...

very much 1  x  I enjoyed very much my stay in the USA.
✓  I enjoyed my stay in the USA very much.
✓  I would like very much to visit some of the places that I have been reading about.

I would very much like to visit some of the places that I have been reading about.

Do not put very much between a verb (e.g. 'enjoyed') and its object (e.g. 'my stay in the USA'). When the object is short, very much goes at the end of the sentence or in front of the verb. When the object is long, very much usually goes in front of the verb: 'I very much hope that you and your family have a safe journey.'

2 x It costs very much.
✓ It costs a lot (of money).
x New doors cost very much because wood is so expensive.
✓ New doors cost a lot (of money) because wood is so expensive.

With some verbs (e.g. cost, pay, charge, eat) it is possible to use very much in questions and negative sentences: 'Did it cost very much?' 'It didn't cost very much.'

However, in affirmative sentences very much is usually replaced by a lot: 'It will cost quite a lot to have the job done properly.'

3 See LOVE

view 1 x The view of all the blood on the ground made her feel ill.
✓ The sight of all the blood on the ground made her feel ill.

View refers to the whole area that you can see from somewhere, especially when you can see a long way into the distance: 'His studio has a spectacular view over Sydney Harbour Bridge.' 'I've booked a room with a view of the sea.'

When you are talking about the act of seeing something, use the sight of: 'The sight of so many people dying from disease and hunger is something I will never forget.'

2 x Come over here and watch the view.
✓ Come over here and look at the view.
x We just sat there and saw the view.
✓ We just sat there and admired the view.
x From the top of the tower you see a wonderful view of the city.
✓ From the top of the tower you get a wonderful view of the city.

look at/admire/enjoy the view (NOT see/watch): 'We asked the coach driver to stop so that we could look at the view.'

have/get a (good) view from a particular place (NOT see): 'If you stand where I am, you get a much better view.'

3 See POINT OF VIEW

violence x Some of these films are full of the violence.
✓ Some of these films are full of violence.

See note at THE 4

vision x We'd like to know your personal vision of the situation.

vision = a picture in the mind of what the future will be like: 'This romantic vision of a world without war is far removed from reality.'
visit 1

Afterwards we visited a restaurant for dinner.

You visit places that are of special interest, especially when you are a tourist or official guest: 'By the end of the day I was fed up with visiting museums and all the travelling around.' 'Later in the day Her Majesty will be visiting the Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital.'

You go to a restaurant, market, library, someone's house etc: 'If it rains, we could always go to the cinema.' 'I've got to go to the dentist's.'

? Thank you for visiting me.
✓ Thank you for coming to see me.
✓ He's gone back to Iran to pay a visit to his family.

When you are talking about visiting someone for pleasure or business, go/come to see sb (or go/come and see sb) usually sounds more natural than visit sb or pay sb a visit: 'She's gone to see her brother.' 'Let's go and see Peter and take him some grapes.'

x I've been visiting a language school in Cambridge.
✓ I've been going to a language school in Cambridge.

go to or (more formal) attend a school, college, class etc (= go there regularly as a student): 'Her son goes to a small private school near Chingford.' 'I've started going to evening classes.'

Compare: 'Government inspectors visit the school twice a year.'

✓ The article contained a lot of American English words.

vocabulary = all the words in a language or all the words (in a language) that someone knows: 'English has a vast vocabulary.' 'By the end of the course students should have an active vocabulary of around 2000 words.'

voice 1

x 'You're late!' he said with an angry voice.
✓ 'You're late!' he said in an angry voice.

in a loud/deep/sad etc voice (NOT with): 'She spoke in such a soft voice that we couldn't hear anything.'

Compare: 'She speaks with a strong accent.'

x Students should feel able to voice out their opinions.
✓ Students should feel able to voice their opinions.

voice your feelings and opinions (WITHOUT out): 'I'm not just voicing my own opinions - we all feel the same.' 'Whenever one of us voices the slightest disapproval, the chairman takes offence.'
voluntary

- The hospital could not operate without voluntaries.
- In my opinion, these young voluntaries should be congratulated.

Voluntary is an adjective (NOT a noun). It describes someone who agrees to work without being paid, or work that is not paid: 'On Saturdays she does voluntary work at an old people's home.'
The noun is volunteer = someone who decides to do something when they are not forced to do it: 'I need three volunteers to help me move the piano.'

vote 1

- Next year a new president will be voted.
- On the day of the vote, they couldn't be bothered to go and vote.

vote = show which person or which course of action you prefer, especially by marking a piece of paper or raising your hand: 'Who will you be voting for at the next election?'

elect = choose a leader or representative by voting: 'Roman Catholic cardinals are meeting at the Vatican to elect a new Pope.'

election = an occasion when people vote: 'Who's going to win the next election?'

People are not allowed to vote more than one candidate.

vote for sb: 'I'm not prepared to vote for someone who keeps changing his mind.'

vote on a particular question or issue: 'The Council voted on a motion to close the hospital.'

When you are talking about what must happen in order to make something possible, use if ... am/is/are to do sth (NOT will): ‘If we are to get there by six o’clock, we’ll have to get a taxi.’

See Language Note below

Talking about the future

- When you talk about something happening in the future, you often use one of the following conjunctions:

  TIME after, as soon as, before, immediately, once, the moment, until, when, whenever, while

  CONDITION if, whether, as long as, in case, unless

- To refer to the future after these conjunctions, use the present simple tense (NOT will/shall):

  I’ll phone you as soon as I arrive at the airport.
  The plane should be taking off shortly, as long as there aren’t any delays.

Note:

1 Sometimes it is possible to use the present perfect tense instead of the present simple. The present perfect expresses a sense of completion:

She doesn’t want to buy a car until she’s passed her driving test.
Once you’ve made a few friends, you won’t feel so lonely.

2 When the clause beginning with if, whether, when, etc is the object of the sentence, will may be used:

I doubt whether David will still recognize me.
I don’t know when they’ll be back.

Also, if ... will is possible when will expresses the idea of willingness:

What are you going to do if she won’t help you?
If you’ll take a seat for a moment, I’ll tell Mr Fox you’re here.

double negative the incorrect use of two negative words instead of one, e.g. ‘Nobody never ...’ instead of ‘Nobody ever ...

emphatic the special force that is sometimes given to a word or phrase to draw it to the listener’s or reader’s attention: ‘I do hope you feel better soon.’ ‘They themselves have never been to Italy.’

finite A finite verb is one which has a subject and a tense: e.g. ‘takes’, ‘took’, ‘has taken’, ‘was being taken’.

first person See PERSON

fixed phrase two or more words which are always used together and cannot be changed in any way: e.g. ‘as a matter of fact’, ‘on the contrary’ (NOT ‘on a contrary’, ‘on the contraries’, etc) formal Formal styles are those in which words and structures are chosen with care, as in business letters, official reports, academic textbooks, news broadcasts, public ceremonies, etc. See also INFORMAL identifying relative clause See RELATIVE CLAUSE

indirect object See OBJECT

indirect speech See DIRECT SPEECH

infinitive the form of a verb that you look up in a dictionary. There are two types of infinitive, the ‘bare infinitive’ (e.g. ‘come’, ‘take’, ‘send’) and the ‘to-infinitive’ (e.g. ‘to come’, ‘to take’, ‘to send’), sometimes shown in this book as ‘to-v’.
informal Informal styles are those in which language is used in a casual, spontaneous way, as in everyday conversation and letters to friends. See also formal.

-ing form The form of a verb which ends in '-ing', e.g. 'coming', 'taking', 'sending', sometimes shown in this book as 'v-ing'. When an -ing form is used as a noun, it is sometimes called a 'gerund': e.g. 'I like reading.' When an -ing form is used as a verb, it is sometimes called a present participle: 'I saw her talking to Dr Edwards this morning.'

intransitive An intransitive verb is one that is used without an object, e.g. 'Wait here until I come back.' See also transitive.

main clause (also 'independent clause') a string of words containing a subject and verb, which can stand alone as a sentence: e.g. 'I'm going out tonight.' See also subordinate clause.

main verb a verb like 'speak', 'take' or 'go' which can be used as the only verb in a sentence: 'She speaks German and Russian.' 'He took her to the airport.' A main verb is often preceded by one or more auxiliary verbs such as 'be', 'do', 'have', 'will', 'may', 'must': 'She is learning French.' 'He must have taken her to the airport.' 'Do you know their address?'

modify (also 'qualify') A word is often used with one or more other words which provide additional information about it or limit its meaning. In such cases, the word is said to be 'modified'. For example, in 'Japanese cars are quite expensive', 'cars' is modified by 'Japanese', and 'expensive' is modified by 'quite'. The words 'Japanese' and 'quite' are used as modifiers. In 'a luxury hotel', the first noun ('luxury') modifies the second noun ('hotel').

negative A verb is negative when it is used with not, never, rarely, etc: 'She never answers my questions.' A clause or sentence containing a negative verb is also negative. Compare: He wanted to go to bed.' (affirmative verb/sentence); 'He didn't want to go to bed.' (negative verb/sentence) non-identifying relative clause See relative clause.

noun a word used to refer to a person, animal, place, thing, etc: 'Each visitor received a small gift.'

noun phrase a group of words in which the main word is a noun or pronoun: 'Each visitor received a small gift.' 'Have you finished reading the book I lent you?'

number the contrast between words which are singular (e.g. 'child') and words which are plural ('children'). Two words are said to 'agree in number' when they are both singular or both plural. Compare: 'The child was playing in the garden' (singular); 'The children were playing in the garden' (plural).

object The object (also 'direct object') of a sentence is the person or thing that is directly affected by the action of the verb: 'She bought a packet of envelopes'; 'I'd already seen the film'. An 'indirect object' is usually the person or thing that receives the direct object: 'She sent my mother a postcard.' 'He gave her a diamond ring.' 'We told them the news.'

participle

See past participle, -ing form

passive

When the subject of a sentence 'performs' the action expressed by the verb, the verb and the sentence are said to be 'active': 'Someone has stolen my watch.' 'The government spends a lot of money on cancer research.' Sometimes the subject of a sentence does not perform the action expressed by the verb but 'receives' it: 'My watch has been stolen.' 'A lot of money is spent on cancer research.' In these cases, the verb and the sentence are said to be 'passive'.

past participle

the verb form that is used to make the present perfect and past perfect, and all passive structures: 'She's lost her address book.' 'I hadn't seen her before.' 'Have the letters been posted yet?'

past perfect

the verb form that is made with had and the past participle: 'After everyone had gone, we began to tidy up.' 'If I'd known your address, I would've come to see you.' See also progressive

past progressive

See progressive

past tense

The past tense of a regular verb ends in -ed and has the same form as the past participle: 'cooked', 'thanked', 'opened'. The past tense of an irregular verb is formed in many different ways: 'went', 'saw', 'thought', 'found', 'took', 'spoke'. See also progressive

person

the contrast between words which refer to ourselves (e.g. I, we = 'first person'), words which refer to the person we are talking to (e.g. you = 'second person'), and words which refer to someone or something else (e.g. he, she, Mrs Robinson, the apple trees = 'third person').

phrase 1

a group of words whose main word is a noun ('many people'), main verb ('has been written'), adjective ('quite difficult') or adverb ('fairly soon'), or which begins with a preposition: ('at six o'clock', 'in the garden', 'for political reasons')

2 two or more words which are often used together: 'have a bath', 'make a mistake', 'it is obvious that' See also fixed phrase

plural

See number

plural noun

a noun which is always plural and does not have a singular form, e.g. trousers, scissors, goods, surroundings

possessive

A possessive form or meaning is one which expresses ownership or close connection: 'Is this your handbag?' 'Have you met her husband?' 'It's Bob's birthday tomorrow.' 'We had lunch at Rosemary's.'

preparatory subject

Instead of using a clause as the subject of a sentence, it is often more natural to begin the sentence with it and put the clause later: 'It's amazing that nobody was injured.' 'It will be good to see you all again.' When used in this way, it is called a preparatory subject.

preposition

a word like at, from, for, during, into, in spite of which is used before a noun, pronoun, etc: 'We went to the airport in a taxi.'
present perfect  the verb form that is made with have and the past participle: 'My watch has stopped.' 'Have you seen Alex this morning?' See also PROGRESSIVE present progressive  See PROGRESSIVE present simple  the verb form which has no endings apart from -s/-es with subjects such as 'he', 'she', 'it', 'Mrs Robinson' etc: 'I play a lot of tennis.' 'The sun rises in the east and sets in the west.' See also PROGRESSIVE progressive  (also 'continuous') a verb form made with be + -ing: 'It was raining this morning.' (past progressive); 'Are you coming tonight?' (present progressive); 'I've been waiting here for over an hour.' (present perfect progressive); 'Before coming to London, she had been working in Paris.' (past perfect progressive). See also SIMPLE pronoun  a word like he, her, mine, themselves, some, who, which is used in place of a noun or noun phrase: 'Ann was very upset when she heard the news.' ('she' is the pronoun for 'Ann'); 'If Alex needs a red pen, there's one in the drawer.' ('one' is the pronoun for 'a red pen') reflexive pronoun  a word like myself or ourselves that ends with -self or -selves: 'I found myself a seat and sat down.'

reflexive verb  a verb that is used with myself, herself, themselves etc: 'You mustn't blame yourself for the accident.'

relative clause  a descriptive clause usually beginning with that, who, which, whose or whom. An 'identifying' relative clause answers the question 'which?' and identifies or defines the preceding noun: 'The man who was carrying a torch showed us to our seats.' A 'non-identifying' relative clause simply adds further information about the preceding noun: 'The man, who was carrying a torch, showed us to our seats.'

relative pronoun  a word like that, who, which, used at the beginning of a relative clause. See also RELATIVE CLAUSE reporting verb  a verb like say, answer, ask, complain which is used when reporting what someone has said, asked, etc: 'She complained that she needed more time.' 'I can't afford a new car,' he replied.'

second person  See PERSON simple  A simple verb form does not have an -ing ending: e.g. 'It rained all day.' (past simple); 'What time does the train arrive?' (present simple); 'He's bought a new bicycle.' (present perfect); 'One of the books had fallen on the floor.' (past perfect). See also PROGRESSIVE singular  See NUMBER

subject  The subject of a sentence is the person, thing or idea that the sentence is about. In statements, the subject usually comes at the beginning and is followed by a verb: 'These old newspapers should be thrown away.' 'The house they intend to buy is in Kensington. 'Looking after a young child can be very tiring.' See also PREPARATORY SUBJECT subordinate clause (also 'dependent clause') a string of words that cannot be used on its own as a sentence, but usually forms a major part of a sentence: 'As soon as my exams are over, I'm going on holiday.' 'Driving on the wrong side of the road is dangerous.' See also MAIN CLAUSE

superlative the form of an adjective or adverb that is used to express the greatest or smallest degree. Most superlative forms end in -est or begin with most/least: 'It was the longest and most boring film I'd ever seen.' See also COMPARATIVE syllable A syllable is one or more speech sounds pronounced as one unit. For example, hat has one syllable, jacket has two syllables, and cardigan has three.

that-clause a subordinate clause beginning with that which does the job of a noun, pronoun, etc: 'She told me that you don't like her.' 'It's amazing that nobody was injured.' Sometimes, especially in informal styles, the word that may be left out: 'She says (that) she's looking for a new job.' 'It's a pity (that) you won't be coming.'

third person See PERSON

to-infinitive See INFINITIVE

to-v See INFINITIVE

transitive A transitive verb is one that is used with an object, e.g. 'She opened the drawer and took out a knife.' See also INTRANSITIVE uncountable An uncountable noun is one which has no plural form and is not used with a/an: e.g. 'We need some new furniture.' 'She needs advice.' 'Poverty can lead to unhappiness and despair.'

verb a word which refers to an action or a state: 'She said that she felt ill.'

v-ing See -ING FORM

vowel (also 'vowel sound') a speech sound made when the breath escapes freely, without being blocked or restricted in the mouth or throat, such as /i:/ as in 'key' /ki:/, or /a:/ as in 'car' /ka:/.

wh-clause a subordinate clause beginning with a wh-word, e.g. what, why, how, where, who: 'Do you know where she lives?' 'What we need is a faster printer.'

wh-word See WH-CLAUSE
